ProFab Rebrands to Clearly Reflect Its Role as Part of the Grote Company Family of Brands

ProFab, Millwright & Mechanical Services Provider, Unveils New Brand at IPPE Jan. 28-30 in Atlanta

SPRINGDALE, Ark., Jan. 22, 2025 – Today, ProFab, a millwright, mechanical, and process piping supplier and installer with decades of experience supporting meat and poultry processors, announced that it has rebranded as part of its acquisition by the Grote Company Family of Brands. ProFab is showcasing its new look at IPPE, Jan. 28-30, in booth #B44042.

“The Grote Company Family of Brands continues to grow as we welcomed ProFab into the fold this past year,” said Bob Grote, chief executive officer, Grote Company. “While the ProFab rebrand changes its look, what doesn’t change is its dedication to supporting meat and poultry processors with quick services and fabrication.”

ProFab provides millwrighting, process piping, mechanical and installation services, specializing in projects that require a fast turnaround. With decades of experience in food processing plants and now part of the Grote Company Family of Brands, ProFab can scale up and collaborate with its sister companies to support projects of any size across the U.S.

ProFab will showcase a running dumper, hopper, and conveyor system in its IPPE booth.

About ProFab

Established in 2003, ProFab supports protein processing plants with installation, process piping, mechanical and millwright services, and custom stainless steel equipment. The company understands the demands of meat and poultry processors and uses its experience, speed, and resource pool to complete critical projects on time and to specification.
