AgHires, Industry Recruiting Experts, To Connect With Employers at International Production and Processing Expo

Lambertville, MI: AgHires, the leading recruiting firm and job board for the agriculture, production, and processing industries, will exhibit at the International Production and Processing Expo (IPPE) in Atlanta from January 27 to 29 at the Georgia World Congress Center.

The AgHires team will be located in Hall B, Booth 38066, where they will discuss today's tight labor market and share recent client success stories from across the industry. Attendees are invited to connect with AgHires' hiring experts, enter to win a Solo Stove Bonfire, and enjoy a treat from the candy buffet.

AgHires provides a full suite of recruiting solutions, including Job Postings and Advertising, Full-Service Professional Recruiting, Executive Search, and customized hiring support designed to help employers attract top talent.

IPPE attendees are encouraged to schedule a meeting during the show to learn more about AgHires and its recruiting solutions. To set up a time, email sales@ag hires.com.

AgHires recruits across the full agricultural and food supply chain, supporting farms, agribusinesses, production and processing companies, grain operations, cooperatives, produce and specialty crop operations, agronomy and seed businesses, biotechnology, animal health, livestock, ag equipment, ag technology, manufacturing, engineering, greenhouse operations, and more.

AgHires is committed to being the go-to resource for job seekers and employers for hiring top talent in the industry. Learn more at www.AgHires.com.
