Graphic Products Toro Kit Provides Quick Output for Control Panel Labeling Tasks

Multipurpose Industrial Printing Bundle Allows for Immediate Work Area Transformation

BEAVERTON, Oregon – When updating or upgrading industrial control panel operations, convenience is key when a sign or label is needed. Get everything you need to create, replace or update control panel information simply and quickly with Graphic Products DuraLabel Toro Control Panel Labeling Kit. The kit includes the Toro label and sign printing system plus a variety of supplies for time and cost-savings.

“Businesses need a no fuss, quick system that is able to print all their control panel labels and signs on the spot,” said Andy Sobiesczyk, product manager at Graphic Products. “The Toro Control Panel Labeling Kit eliminates hassles and empowers customers to professionally transform their industrial control panel work areas for safety, compliance, and efficiency.”

Take Toro anywhere. The user-friendly design includes a fold-out keyboard, 9” color touchscreen, and built-in label design software with practical templates and the ability to customize control panel labels and signs as needed. Print control panel labels and signs remotely for hours with the optional battery or use the vehicle AC adaptor. Toro can improve efficiency and safety in manufacturing, materials handling industries, and more.

For convenience, this kit includes a variety of specialty supplies built to hold up on industrial-grade surfaces for long-lasting durability. Create visual communication to support compliance needs, convey critical equipment information, and communicate site-specific safety procedures.
