Graphic Products to Demonstrate Production Solutions at IPPE

Beaverton, Oregon – Graphic Products, a global leader in visual communication solutions for compliance and safety, is presenting a selection of hazard prevention tools for all segments of the poultry, meat, and feed industry. From Feb. 12-14 at the International Production and Processing Expo in Atlanta, booth 7312, Graphic Products will exhibit the newest DuraLabel printers and premium supplies, including the convenient and popular DuraLabel Toro.

“These days, loyal customers pay attention to smart processing that focuses on quality, lean manufacturing, and safety,” said Andy Sobiesczyk, a product manager at Graphic Products. “Our high-quality labeling systems and other safety products provide a cost-effective way to meet those production demands and increase profitability.”

Built tough to handle any environment, Toro is the ideal label printer for the food production industry. This portable device comes with innovative software that can handle large labeling jobs as well as one-off maintenance labeling tasks. Easily print product identification labels and general compliance communication in any work area using the built-in Wi-Fi adapter and optional battery pack. Toro is dependable in a variety of environments such as extreme temperature facilities using industrial-grade supplies for all facility labeling needs. Easily install ammonia refrigerant markings, utilize FDA food labeling compliant metal-detectable tape for production process equipment. Use Toro to implement cold storage tapes, perfect for use in freezers or refrigerated units for inventory labeling, barcodes, and more.
