

Poultry World magazine at IPPE 2019

The well-known, leading international trade magazines Poultry World, All About Feed and Pig Progress will participate in the International Production & Processing Expo (IPPE) 2019. Come and see us for a free EGG or FEED BAG.

The IPPE takes place in Atlanta, Georgia USA, at the Georgia World Congress Centre from February 12-14. At the IPPE, the famous international brands Poultry World, All About Feed and Pig Progress will be present at the show. You can find us at the BOOTH: A619.

At our booth we can explain you all about the readership and impact of our global magazines. We have a wide range of opportunities for businesses to communicate their message to a global audience. Learn about our events, webinars, online propositions and the tailor-made communication plans we can offer you.

While at our booth, grab a free magazine and the famous EGG or FEED BAG. These famous bags are a real must-have and have been a real show stopper at most of the international shows over the last few years.

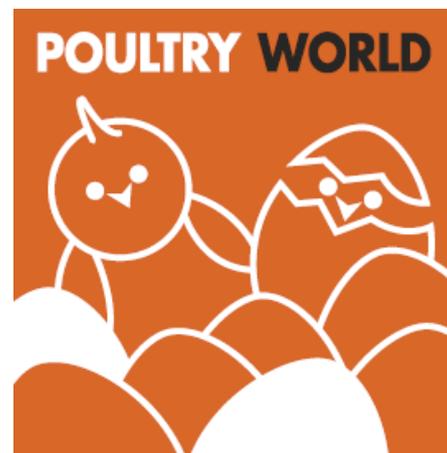

About our brands

Aimed at the international poultry industry, and with a history of over 30 years, Poultry World is our multimedia brand, providing comprehensive information on the very latest developments and innovation from across the world. Offering an interactive poultry health tool amongst others, Poultry World has become the 'go-to' platform for poultry farmers globally.

All About Feed is a true multimedia brand, bringing you the latest developments in animal nutrition, diet formulation and feed processing equipment. It has a strong focus on important topics such as mycotoxins, compound feed statistics, new and alternative feed ingredients, expert opinions and nutritional strategies to reduce antibiotic use.

Pig Progress has been in the market for over 30 years and is the key source for the international pig/pork production industry, providing indispensable information for farmers, breeders, vets and service companies. The magazine offers unique and independent insights into pig production all over the world.

Next to these brands, we also publish Dairy Global, for the international dairy industry and Future Farming, tackling the latest trends in precision agriculture.
