

Fabbri Automatic Stretch Film Wrapping Machines from Reiser

See live demonstrations of all our equipment at IPPE 2019, Booth B6335

Fabbri Automatic Stretch Wrappers produce highly attractive packages that make food products look fresh and “just packed”. Fabbri Stretch Wrappers use stretch film to package fresh meat, poultry, seafood, and produce products in preformed trays to provide an in-store wrapped appearance. Fabbri Stretch Wrappers employ four-way stretch technology to produce tight, over-the-flange, wrinkle-free packages with securely sealed bottoms and a superb case presentation. And because it uses low-cost packaging materials, the Fabbri package has the lowest cost-per-pack.

Compact, robust and servo driven, Fabbri Stretch Wrappers are built for speed, versatility and the highest levels of productivity. They can handle a wide range of tray sizes with no changeovers, producing up to 62 packs per minute. All models feature a user-friendly, programmable control panel with 99 package tray lookups and includes diagnostic software to allow easy operation and maintenance. Fabbri stretch wrappers can be easily integrated with weighing and labeling equipment.
