2023 Latin American Poultry Summit Date Announced

TUCKER, Ga. – Aug. 2, 2022 – The date for the 2023 Latin American Poultry Summit will be Monday, Jan. 23, 2023. The date was announced by the International Poultry Expo (IPE), part of the International Production & Processing Expo (IPPE), and the Latin American Poultry Association (ALA). Enthusiastic feedback from 2022 attendees has led to the continuation of the new format developed for the Summit. The program will feature a one-day agenda to allow all attendees as much time as possible to connect and engage with exhibitors on the trade show floor.

The Latin American Poultry Summit will feature sessions focused on the role of poultry and eggs in addressing the food, social and economic realities of Latin America. Featured technical topics will cover economic, production and processing issues of highest priority to Latin American poultry and egg producers and processors. Join key business leaders and university researchers to learn, discuss and network. The Summit will also provide several networking opportunities, including a luncheon, coffee breaks and a reception. Special recognition will be given to students and advisors participating in the USPOULTRY Foundation International Student Program during the event.

If you missed the 2022 event and want to learn about the high caliber presentations that were given, please visit the Latin American Poultry Summit Facebook page at Facebook.com/CumbreAvicoLATAM to view video summaries of some of the presentations. ABOUT IPPE

The International Production & Processing Expo (IPPE) is a collaboration of three shows - International Feed Expo, International Meat Expo and the International Poultry Expo - representing the entire chain of protein production and processing. The event is sponsored by the American Feed Industry Association (AFIA), North American Meat Institute (NAMI) and U.S. Poultry & Egg Association (USPOULTRY).

ABOUT AFIA

Founded in 1909, the American Feed Industry Association (AFIA), based in Arlington, Va., is the world's largest organization devoted exclusively to representing the business, legislative and regulatory interests of the U.S. animal food industry and its suppliers. The organization's membership is comprised of more than 650 domestic and international companies that represent the total feed industry—manufacturers of commercial and integrated feed and pet food, ingredient suppliers, pharmaceutical companies, industry support and equipment manufacturers. AFIA members manufacture more than 75% of the feed and 70% of the non-whole grain ingredients used in the country. AFIA is also recognized as the leader on international industry developments and holds membership in the International Feed Industry Federation (IFIF).

ABOUT NAMI

The North American Meat Institute (NAMI) is the leading voice for the meat and poultry industry. Formed from the 2015 merger of the American Meat Institute (AMI) and North American Meat Association (NAMA), the Institute has a rich, century-long history and provides essential member services including legislative, regulatory, scientific, international and public affairs representation. NAMI's mission is to shape a public policy environment in which the meat and poultry industry can produce wholesome products safely, efficiently and profitably.
